

The National Park Service at Chamizal National Memorial presents

First Friday Film Festival

February 6 - "Born in East L.A." (1987)

Starring: Cheech Marin

Genre: Comedy

Rating: R

Cheech, an American citizen, is accidentally deported and struggles to get back into the United States!

No March Film

April - "My Family" (1995)

Starring: Edward James Olmos and Jennifer Lopez

Genre: Drama

Rating: R

A family that has recently immigrated from Mexico endures tragedy and triumph while living in Los Angeles.

May 1 - "Rio Bravo" (1959)

Starring: John Wayne and Dean Martin

Genre: Western, Romance Drama

Rating: PG

A small-town sheriff gets help from a drunk and a gunfighter

June 5 - "Zoot Suit" (1981)

Starring: Daniel Valdez and Edward James Olmos

Genre: Musical, Drama

Rating: R

A story about the zoot suit fad of the early 40s.

Details:

All films start at 7:00 p.m. inside the theater at Chamizal National Memorial

All films are free.

Please no food or drinks.

For a listing of other cultural events, visit www.nps.gov/cham.

In commemoration of the Chamizal Convention of 1963, Chamizal National Memorial promotes the culture and heritage of the U.S.-Mexico Borderland.

Lights, camera, action!